We collect and use different kinds of information:

1. Identifiable data – containing personal data that can identify individuals, such as name, date of birth, gender, address and postcodes.
2. Pseudonymised data – this contains information about individuals but with the identifiable details replaced with a unique code.
3. Anonymised data – this is information about individuals which has had all identifying details removed.
4. Aggregated data – this is when all anonymised information has been grouped together so that it doesn't identify individuals.

Family Voice Norfolk will never share your personal information with any third-party organisation unless required to do so by law. Reports that we compile are made widely available, in order to improve services for our membership and their families, but information will always be anonymised and any details removed that could identify you.
